CANAL OPENING.

New York Celebrates with Booming Guns and Jollification.

[Special dispatch to the Transcript.]

NEW YORK, June 17.—Amid the booming cannon from two United States warships, the screaming of whistles from the river craft, and the cheers of thousands of spectators, a flotilla of nearly 200 vessels entered the Harlem ship canal, and the new waterway was thrown open to commerce at noon today.

This was the joining of the waters of the Hudson and East rivers, and was celebrated as no other similar event has been celebrated since the Erie canal was opened in 1825. Mayor Strong issued a proclamation making the day a municipal holiday.

While the boats were having a big time of it on the water, there was another parade on land. There were fifty floats illustrating different industries and detachments of firemen policemen and school children. The total length of the canal is six miles. It forms the connecting link between the Great Lakes and Long Island sound, shortening the distance from the Hudson river to Long Island by about twelve miles.

OFF FOR BUZZARD'S BAY.

President Cleveland Begun His Vacation Today.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—President Cleveland, Private Secretary Thurber and Dr. O'Reilly left Washington this morning at 6:55 for Buzzard's Bay, where they will remain for the rest of the summer.

They went by train as far as Jersey City where they boarded the C. E. Benedicts yacht, Oneida, and the rest of the journey will be made by water. There was no crowd at the station here when the president left as the time of his departure was veiled in mystery. During the absence of the President all official business will be transacted as usual through the White House.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 17.—A cablegram from Key West, Fla., says that private advices received in this city, state that the revolutionists in Auras have captured a train loaded with 125 Spanish troops between Gibara and Holguin.

They also captured $80,000 in silver, 1,000 rifles and 50,000 rounds of ammunition.
Petro Torres and a band of his men have burned the town of Camasi near Matanzas.

DENVER, COLO., June 17.—The discovery of thefts of rich ore from the Golden Fleece mine has developed the fact that ore worth millions of dollars has been stolen from the mines of Colorado in the last ten years by an organized band of professionals. So far there is no clue to the leaders.

THE DIOCESAN FIELD DAY.

Some of the Events That Will Take Place and Some Entries.

The executive committee that is arranging for the Father Mathew field day has done considerable work. It held a meeting yesterday and talked over matters. The sports decided upon are 100-yard dash, 200-yard dash, 400-yard run, 800-yard run, one mile run, 120-yard hurdles race, 220-yard hurdle race, running broad jump, running high jump, pole vault, putting sixteen pound shot and hop, step and jump. The sports will be under the National Amateur Athletic union and under the immediate supervision of the Springfield Diocesan Amateur Athletic union who will furnish referees and all officers required to conduct the sports.

All entries must be in accordance with the rules of these unions. The society has reason to expect a large number of entries. Already three athletic teams from Worcester with a total membership of forty-five have entered. Five members of these teams hold championships in the New England division of the unions.

Among the entries for the races are J. J.
McLaughlin and J. D. Delaney of Worcester. Delaney is one of the fastest men in the country. At the Boston athletic club games he defeated Kilpatrick, Rush-worth and Blake. McLaughlin holds the New England half mile championship.

He has defeated most of the best half mile runners in New England. The ball games will be of much interest. The St. Bernard's of Fitchburg, Sacred Heart's of Worcester and St. Jerome's of Holyoke have entered. The Sacred Heart team holds the championship. The society is considering the advisability of a balloon ascension and broad sword contest. The estimates of a number of caterers is being obtained on supplying food for the day. The enterprise taking it in its entirety is a very large one and requires much thought in working out the details.

AN UNUSUAL SERMON.

REV. A. B. CHURCH CONSIDERS SOME INCONSISTENCIES.For a Heaven in Earth Not a Heaven Hereafter.

Rev. A. B. Church preached an unusual sermon Sunday evening from the text, John VI and 64, "But there are some of you that believe not." The thought considered in the sermon was the inconsistency in the increased showing made by christian organizations, including the church, and the increase in vice. In beginning he explained that Jesus, when he was teaching in the synagogue at Capernaum, taught a lesson about the bread from heaven and showed what the spiritual bread was. He thought it time to lift the throng and see who believed. He said when he called on them to do some duties that they did not come and he then said they believed not. Christ judged men by their lives. What are our standards of judging christian work? Are not our standards the conventional do we not judge by numbers or some such indication instead of a broadened christian life.

What do we count as the real success of a christian organization and minister?
When either is written up do we not see taken the number of converts and the amount of money raised.

Do we stop in regard to the minister to say how that man is estimated in the homes of the community. Is he interested in better citizenship and does he stand for it publicly? How do we judge an organization? Do we not judge it by its additional organizations, buildings, reading rooms, converts, increased salaries, all of which may be good. But it may be all conventionalism. Could not Christ say to many such, "you believe not."

Mr. Church referred to a recent article of Dr. Bacon's, in which was pointed out such statistics given by the Y. M. C. A. at some late conventions, yet, with all, the social vices were increasing where these institutions were represented as strongest.

He asked what does it mean to live for God. Does it mean to live in rapt piety or in a plain working mood for our fellow men? Some one has said what we need is not more christians but a better brand of christians, and there is much truth in it.

Who of you when reading would not prefer the steady glow of even a tallow candle to a dozen of sky rockets? The church would be truer to her mission were she to go out of the getting of many for a heaven hereafter, and go into the making of good reputable christian citizens to form a heaven here on earth. Mr. Church considered the old definition of the secular. It was supposed the minister had nothing to do with the secular. He was shut in his study and saw the wicked world pass and said "O, it is original sin." When some calamity happened he said "O, it is divine providence." What was sacred so far in the air that it could not be gotten hold of.

These old lines are being removed and along the new lines is talked the separation of church from state. Some men think these are two lives, a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde life. One life for the church another for the state and politics. So, we have increased church capital and membership in the middle of growing and perishing vice. And it is said the church is performing her good work. I say it isn't.
So, the old ideas of secular are going.
All is sacred; all is God's. Men are under just as much obligation to live right in the state as in the church. The church and the state are not divided. The men who support an honest church shall support a honest office. Vice must be stamped out, and the church must be judged by the maintaining of a christian community not by its increased capital or numbers. The time is coming when disreputable men cannot be reputable church members. The church will wreck herself if she continues to permit of such Christian institutions must be so that, when they are judged as be of old did judge it cannot be said many of you do not believe.

GAMES OF DIVISION 4.

Could Not Induce the Yale and Williams Teams to Play.

The committees arranging for the sports to be held July 4 on the fair grounds under the auspices of Division 4, A. O. H., met yesterday and almost completed the arrangements. It was decided to have a tag-of-war between the "Calico's" and "Irons." These teams will be made up from men employed in Hunter's machine works and the different machine shops and those employed in the Windsor and Arnold print works. There will be a 100-yard dash, a quarter-mile race and a two-mile bicycle race. There will be two horse trots. One for a 2.30 class and one for a 2.40 class. Besides these there will be egg sack, barrel and wheelbarrow races. In all probability there will be some sparring by a couple of good men. There will be a handicap foot race for which a purse of $50 is offered.

There will be an exhibition of dumb-bell work by Perry Walsh. The committee are working hard to secure two good ball teams to give an exhibition game. Delegates waited on the representatives of the Williams and Yale teams but could not induce them to arrange for a game under the Division's auspices.

SOME SUNDAY RAIDS.

Lager Beer and Whiskey in One Place, Nothing at Others.

Officers Atwood and Smith made three raids yesterday morning and were successful in one instance. The house of Michael McCarthy, 200 River street, was raided and a keg of beer, two cases of lager and two bottles of whiskey were found. The "stuff" was found in the cellar of a neighbor who unwittingly allowed it to be stored there. One cellar could be entered from another. The neighbor is a French woman who did not understand the game. The two unsuccessful raids were made upon the premises of Daniel Barry on Union street and Jeremiah Broderick at the Five Points.

A VILLAINOUS DEED.

A Drunken Sunday Debauch

COURAGE SAVES THE GIRL'S HONOR.

The Back Road in Blackinton the Scene of Ruffianism. The Case in the Williamstown Court This Morning.

A revolting and beastly assault was made upon Jennie Carr, aged fifteen years yesterday afternoon, but the brutal schemer was foiled in his design. Jennie Carr lives on the back road between Blackinton and Williamstown, next to the Hill homestead where serious trouble occurred last week.

In this same locality lives a family by the name of Robinson, and these Robinsons have made more or less trouble for the Williamstown court. The father, Stephen, and two sons, George and Fred, with others were holding high festival a short distance back in the woods with a keg of hard cider late yesterday afternoon.

It seems from the statement of the little girl Jennie and her little brother Charlie, that she and her brother were in the house with their father. They knew a crowd of rough men were drinking in the woods back of the house, and Jennie was frightened and locked the door. Soon her fears were realized, as some one tried the door, and the face of George Robinson appeared at the window. Robinson demanded admittance, and upon the girl's refusal Robinson broke the glass and with a stick lifted the lock that held the door.

Then George Robinson with his brother Fred entered the door. It would seem that Homer Carr, Jennie's father, had been drinking heavily, though the girl and her little brother will not confess it.

When the two Robinsons entered the house, Fred, the younger, called Homer Carr outside and Carr responded.

With no one in the room to protect Jennie but her little twelve-year-old brother.
George Robinson made improper proposals to the girl. Jennie indignantly refused, and Robinson threw her to the floor and sat upon her breast. The girl's assailant then reached a case knife that was lying upon a table which stood beside the prostrate girl and muttered:
"If you yell I'll kill you." The girl was frantic and undaunted by the villain's threats screamed with all the voice she could command.

The girl's father and Fred Robinson who were outside then began a drunken struggle, the father attempting to gain entrance to the house, and George Robinson knew that it was time to retreat. He hastened from the house and followed by Fred, hurried up the hillside into the woods.

This is the story that a TRANSCRIPT reporter was able to get from Jennie and her brother Charlie.

The girl hastened to Blackinton and told of the outrage done her and in fifteen minutes Sheriff Dumfrey was on hand.

The officer came upon the offenders in the woods. They were laying beside a keg of cider and their father, Stephen, was there also. The father and Fred were by this time too drunk to run, but George ran.
The sheriff caught him before he had gone a great distance.

George and Fred were arraigned before the district court at Williamstown this forenoon, the former for the assault upon the girl, for drunkenness and for an assault committed on Joseph L. Scott last July, the latter for drunkenness. The cases were continued until tomorrow at 9 o'clock. Fred was placed under $50 bonds and George was committed to a cell in the lockup without bail.

George Robinson when asked for a statement by the TRANSCRIPT reporter this morning, gave the following:

He said that he with others was up in the woods drinking cider, and that Fred left the group and went down to the Carr house. He said that later he himself followed and when he entered the house his brother and Homer Carr were engaged in a scuffle. He said he tried to separate them and Carr grasped him. He said he had nothing further to say.

Jennie Carr has much sympathy and although reared amid distasteful surroundings, is a perfectly virtuous and upright girl.

FINE HORSES PURCHASED.

They Will Be Seen Here and in Williamstown.

The following clipping from the London Daily Chronicle mentions a rare purchase of horses by H. T. Procter, whose superb summer home is in Williamstown, and who will undoubtedly be driving these horses on the parts soon, hitherto to his usual fine turnout:

Mr. Burdett-Coutts was favored with splendid weather yesterday for the sale of the Brookfield Stud. The quality of the horses he had to offer was of the best, and prices made were sufficiently high to show that the demand for high class horses is at its best. As everybody knows, the Brookfield Stud has been established to promote the breeding of hackneys and roadsters. Every horse offered is "made" and is ready for instant work, and every opportunity is offered for examination and trial before purchase.

After luncheon, Lord Haddington gave the health of Mr. Burdett-Coutts, and said that he had spared no expense, not only in maintaining but improving the breed of hackneys. (Cheers.)

Mr. Burdett-Coutts said the stud had been started with the idea of getting for the breeder some of the profit which accrued to the man who "made" the horse for sale. He did not mean to praise his own property, which he hoped would soon be other people's property, but he would say that a better lot of horses was never got together. (Cheers.) Messrs.
Warner, Sheppard and Wade conducted the sale. Mr. H. T. Procter of Williamstown, Mass., undoubtedly secured a good bargain when he bought a team of four browns, which were beautifully together, and were matched to a hair, for 525 guineas. After this the bidding became more spirited, and some extraordinary prices were realized.

His Finger Crushed Off.

A farmer named Buck carelessly left his horse unhitched on State street. It ran away and would have run down Miss March and Charles Wrennet on Main street had not Mr. March caught the animal's bridle. The horse fell when caught and stepped on Mr. March's right hand, crushing off his little finger. Buck righted his harness and drove rapidly out of town, denying all knowledge of the affair. Dr. M. M. Brown attended March.

Order Will Be Preserved.

James Kilrain made himself very obnoxious at the Hoosac Valley park Saturday night by insulting several ladies and striking one of them. This morning he was in court and was fined $15 and costs.
His experience may be taken as a warning to all that the Hoosac Valley park is not a place for ruffianism and that nothing of the sort will be tolerated there.

DRURY AN EASY WINNER.

Champions of the Three-Cornered Athletic League.

No one could blame the Drury boys for effervescing a little on the streets Saturday night as a result of their walk-a-way victory in the first meet of the Northern Berkshire Triangular league composed of North Adams, Adams and Williamstown high schools. If they did give the Drury yell, they had good reason for so doing, for the score had resulted: Drury 60, Adams 7, Williamstown 5.

The games were held on the fair grounds Saturday afternoon, and while the attendance was small, interest and excitement were on hand in sufficient quantity and the boys are to be congratulated upon the success of the meet.

The following record tells its own story: 100 yards dash—Won by Warren, Drury, time 11 3/5 seconds; second, Coughlin, Drury; third Udeil, Drury.

220 yards dash—Won by Warren, Drury, time 27 seconds; second, Keefe, Williamstown.

One-half mile run—Won by Miner, Drury

Jarvis, Drury, time 1:14 1/2 seconds; second, Miner, Drury; third, Dennett, Drury.

One mile bicycle race—Won by Miner, Drury, time 3 minutes; second, Jarvis, Drury; third, Dennett, Drury.

Three mile bicycle race—Won by Miner, Drury, time 12 minutes; second, Dennett, Drury; third, Thompson, Adams.

Running high jump—Wills and Warren of Drury, tie, 4 feet, 8 inches; third, Coughlin, Drury.

Running broad jump—Won by Williams, Drury, distance, 15 feet, 7 inches; second,

A CRUSHING ARGUMENT.

But It Was a Bottle and Not a Head that Was Cracked.

A few evenings ago there was a small gathering in the private office at the Wilson house drug store. Some had dropped in to get out of a shower, some to hear any bit in the way of news that might be going and some to transact business.

Among the latter were one or two physicians. The subject of prize fighting came up, or, more particularly, the question whether any man who engages in prize fighting could properly be termed a gentleman, no matter how meritorious his department might be outside of the prize ring. The discussion was entirely good natured on the part of all, but waxed very warm under the stimulus of debate, aided by a stifling atmosphere charged with electricity. One of the doctors took an animated part in the argument and his movements and gesticulations might have indicated to one in a position to see and not hear, that he was about to illustrate the truth of his position, which was that no professional bruiser could under any circumstances be correctly regarded as a gentleman. The doctor in the course of the debate backed against the iron safe with a little more force than he thought, wholly forgetful that he was endangering a bottle of medicine in the pocket of his rubber overcoat. A few minutes later he felt for the bottle, which he found in sections, while the medicine was slopping around in the pocket. Time was immediately called, the prescription was duplicated and just about this time it was discovered that the shower was over.

FOUR JUVENILE OFFENDERS.

Boys Who Have Stolen Horses, Money and Other Things.

Albert Dalman, 14, son of Louis Dalman, was in court this morning accused of larceny. There were two charges against him. One charge was a continued one and the other arose out of an escapade Saturday. He was selling papers and a man bought a paper from him and gave him a dollar from which to take the paper's price. He took the dollar and went to get change, but did not return. He confessed his guilt Sunday. Henry Supernant, the nine-year-old boy who has twice stolen a horse, was also in court again this morning. His case was viewed seriously and Rev. Father Jeanette was sent for to consult about what was best to do with the boy. It was decided he should go to some Catholic institution. Leo Cesano, another boy, was accused of larceny. His case was not very aggravated. Harry Booley was wanted, too. If the officers are successful in finding him he will be arranged for malicious mischief. The Dalmaso and Cesano cases were continued until the 20th.

Pittsfield a Little Worried.

It is to be hoped that none of the other census enumerators have made the mistake that the Ward One man made, and neglected to get a record of every individual in his ward. It is particularly desirable that every head be counted in their enumeration, for North Adams is crowding us close and may be depended on to make a return for every soul in the place.
We believe that a correct enumeration will show that Pittsfield leads her up county rival by a comfortable margin.
But it will not be so if the canvassers have been careless or negligent. If any resident of the city who reads this is overlooked in the canvass, he should promptly notify the city authorities in order that the list may be made complete. We want all we can get on the census list.—Pittsfield Eagle.

A HUNT FOR A HORSE.

The Horse in a Livery Stable and the Driver Locked up.

A man came from Williamstown last night hunting for his horse he had hired to a fellow townsman. He found the horse in Roberts' livery stable and he was told he could not get the animal unless the police gave permission. This was explained by the fact that the man who drove the horse was locked up for being drunk. The owner of the horse visited the police station and was told no such man as Robert Shea had been arrested.

There was the name Robert Cheesbro on an "arrest." The man asked to see the prisoners and found his man. Captain Krum went with the man to get him his horse.

BASE BALL SATURDAY.

WILLIAMS CHAMPIONS, AND YALE BLUE DIPS TO THE WILLIAMS PURPLE.Results of Other Local Games in This Vicinity.

Williams not only defeated Yale on Weston field Saturday by a big margin, but also became champions through Am-herst's second defeat at Hanover by the Dartmouth boys. It was a day of glory at Old Williams and the sun never went down on a happier set of college men than those of Williams Saturday evening.

It was the first time in five years Williams had triumph

MONDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 17, 1895.

THE REWARD OF LABOR.

No fact is more certain and manifest than that the world's industrial development is constantly and increasingly favoring labor as compared with capital.

The return to capital is indicated by the rate of interest. We printed a few days ago the statement that in England interest was expected to permanently fall to two per cent. per annum. And with as the rate of three per cent, is practically established. No credit here is higher than that of Massachusetts. In the time of depreciated currency of the rebellion war we borrowed the gold to pay the interest on our debts, an exercise of honesty and wisdom we have since been greatly profited, and which at the time made the credit of Massachusetts better than that of the United States. And in fact it is better today, for our state bonds, having only twenty-five years to run and bearing only three and a half per cent. interest, sold for a better price than the Government four, running thirty years. The point, however, we wish to make is not the credit of Massachusetts, but the fact that these bonds at the selling price net the buyer less than three per cent. income.

But wages here, up to the late depression, have constantly risen, not only absolutely in themselves, but relatively to commodities. Edward Atkinson, the eminent economist and statistician, in his report of the year 1894, and gave his figures for the statement, that the return to labor in employment here was greater than it had ever been before. And wages are again rising in the United States.

But it is not alone or principally the amount of wages that determines the reward to labor, but also and largely the price of what these wages are expended to procure. And here is where the favorable effect of business development is particularly seen at this time. Even things that were thought to be unfavorable to labor contribute manifestly to its reward.

It has been felt and argued that competition alone could keep prices at an equilibrium level, and the formation of trusts was greatly objected to as creating a monopoly that would discriminate against labor by raising the cost of what it had to buy. But it is being shown that combination as well as competition works favorably to the consumer. The Standard Oil company is a great monopoly, and doubtless is burdensome to the producers of oil. These now have practically no other market, and must deliver their production at the Standard Oil pipe lines at a price they have no voice in fixing, and which that company determines and changes. But to the consumer the economies of this vast capital and management have reduced the cost of oil. It is not that the Standard Oil company is a benevolent institution, but that a small percentage of profit upon its vast capital makes a satisfying return, and that it prefers the whole trade to raising the price to where small dealers can share it with profit. In the same way consolidated railroads make a profit upon rates that had brought loss to the members com-

Secretary of Agriculture Morton has written a letter to a New York business man upon bimetalism which presents the principles of that issue in a novel and striking way. Among other expressions, his letter says:

"Why should the farmer advocate a monetary system which will compel him to sell his gold for a dollar, and then to convert it into silver, when he can convert it into a dollar, and at the same time will permit the silver miner to stop work and demand the free coinage of every fifty cents' worth of silver bullion, which he digs, into a dollar? When the silver miner and bullion owner shall have established by legislation Government grist mills, which shall convert every fifty cents' worth of farmer's wheat into a dollar of flour, it will be time enough for the farmer to advocate laws which shall convert every fifty cents' worth of silver bullion into a dollar of coin."

George S. Boutwell, who was elected governor in 1887 when 33 years of age and is now 47, has been writing his political memoirs. He was the first commissioner of internal revenue under the general government; secretary of the treasury in Grant's first administration; a member of the national House of Representatives for several years, and a United States senator for one term of service. This range of service has given him some such knowledge of the politics of his time as no Senator Daves has, and it will be interesting to compare the work of the two men—for Mr. Daves, who has been the wiser and broader man, must not omit to do what Mr. Boutwell has already done.—Springfield Republican.

The high price of gold has greatly stimulated its production, so that the amount for 1894 was $181,510,100, an excess over the year previous of $22,678,000. The increase in the production of silver in 1894 over 1893 was 722,000 ounces, at an average bullion value of 63 cents an ounce. The difference between the bullion and the coinage value of the silver yield of 1894 was over one hundred and nine million dollars. The yield of both metals in 1894 was the greatest of any year in the world's history.

W. M. Crane of Dalton sails for Europe Wednesday for a six weeks' trip of rest and recreation, which has been most thoroughly earned and which it is hoped will be enjoyable and beneficial. He will meet much of his own paper in the bank notes of the countries there.

A new British political party, to be styled the Unionists, composed of the Liberals allied to Joseph Chamberlain and the Tories, was talked about by the Duke of Devonshire in his recent speech at the London banquet of the National Union of Conservative Association.

The success of Alfred Merritt's suit against John D. Rockefeller, the Standard Oil multi-millionaire, to recover almost $1,000,000, was the first of several which will now follow, upon the same general grounds.

The Colony of Newfoundland owes nearly twelve million dollars, and its deficit last year was about $800,000. Increased taxation and an addition of five per cent. on duties is proposed.

Lord Roseberry is tired of office and expects a speedy dissolution of the present British parliament, after which he will go abroad for a long rest.

The French Consul at Panama says that American cotton piece goods are better than the English and cheaper, and should command the market there.

Rev. Dr. Henry M. Field of Stockbridge and the New York Evangelist is about to write the life of his brother, the late David Dudley Field.

The first American flag was made by Mrs. Betsey Ross, whose house on Arch street, Philadelphia, is still standing.

Roundsman Michael Gorman of New York city police has just rescued from drowning his thirty-fifth person.

A Graceful Acknowledgment.

[From the Greenfield Gazette.]

The following little gem, "Trailing Arbutus," was written by Miss Anna R. Van Meter, of El Paso, Ill., in acknowledgment of a bunch of those beautiful flowers sent by Mrs. O. S. Miner of North Adams. The poem belongs to Franklin county instead of Berkshire hills, as the trailing arbutus was gathered by Mrs. C. P. C. Miner and daughter Belle of Charlemont and sent to Mrs. O. S. Miner, who in turn sent them to the garden state of Illinois, to which the arbutus is a stranger. If the Eastern people could only realize with what delight these lovely blossoms are welcomed by the daughters of New England who have left their mountain homes and often sigh for native hills and the perfume of these waxen beauties that live under the snow, I am sure each spring-time would find these messages of love speeding away to fulfill their mission, and the echo of gladness would reach us as this one has, though a thousand miles away.

The gifted lady who wrote the poem is a stranger to New England but a native of "This strange land of broadening sky."

MRS. E. M. CARLTON MINER.

TRAILING ARBUTUS.

Sweet little flower, from distant hills,
Are you not and when you must die In this strange land of broadening sky Is there no thought of pain that thrills Is not thy fragrance half a sigh?

Oh no, I've lived a flower's day.

I've reached a flower's highest good.

For, my native sheltering wood,

I've borne a thought of love away;

I can no higher call obey.

Christian Endeavor at Boston.

The Troy Local Union of Christian Endeavor is expected to attend the great convention at Boston, going and returning via Fitchburg railroad in their own special train, leaving Troy at 8.30 a. m., Wednesday, July 10, stopping at stations between Troy and North Adams to take on members at the several stations, arriving at historic Concord at 2 p. m., where a stop will be made until 5 p. m., and arriving at Boston at 6 p. m. The party will leave Boston at midnight, Monday, July 15, arriving at Troy early Tuesday morning. Low excursion rates have been made and everybody is assured of a most enjoyable and instructive trip.

That Clam Bake.

That clam bake that was advertised to take place in the North yesterday occurred in Clarksburg yesterday. About 200 ate up a lot of clams just good for about half the number. There was plenty of liquid refreshment and those having ambition for exercise played ball. The police were alert all day and made several trips into the North and in the Clarksburg direction as far as the town line.

—Mr. and Mrs. Mark Taylor were thrown from a wagon in Clarksburg Saturday and Mrs. Taylor had a thumb sprained. Mr. Taylor was considerably shaken up. Dr. M. M. Brown was called to attend Mrs. Taylor.

—Dr. A. E. Davenport has ordered a Columbia tandem bicycle for the use of his wife and himself. The bicycle will arrive this week and will be the first of the kind to be owned and used in this town.

—Joseph Rowe, 16, whose home is on Liberty street, went yesterday with some companions on a trip to the Natural Bridge, and with another boy began trying his powers at wrestling. Both went down hard and Rowe's left arm was broken on a stone.

—Mr. Sherman, who works with the Hunter Machine company, has sold his horse to Dodge of Pittsfield for $200. The animal is a fine one and promises great speed. Should the horse trot in 2.35 this season, according to agreement, Mr. Sherman will get just as much more money from Mr. Dodge as he received at the time of sale.

—H. M. Templeton, who recently moved to Oregon City, in a recent letter to an old friend here stated that he had just been to market in that fabulous western land and had bought an 8-pound salmon for fifty cents and five quarts of strawberries for twenty-five cents. Some of the berries measured over five inches in circumference.

—Dr. Millard was called yesterday to the home of Mrs. Celeste Butler, corner of Pleasant and East Quincy streets. He found that Mrs. Butler had sustained a paralytic shock affecting the muscles of her face and the organs of speech. Mrs. Butler is 76 years old and a well known and respected resident of the town.

—The funeral of Mrs. Clarinda Udell was held this forenoon at 10 o'clock from St. John's church. Mrs. Udell died at her home on State street Saturday. She had been ill for over eighteen months and for the past six months was unable to sit in bed because of the nature of her affliction. She was three times married and is survived by her husband and four children.

—The North Adams vocal society had a very pleasant trip to Stamford, Vt., Saturday night in Flagg's big wagon, drawn by six horses. Supper was had at Paradise and home was reached at about 1.30 Sunday morning. The society sang most of the way going and coming and gave the people along the route more music than is usually heard in that locality on a single evening. There was also much singing at the hotel and the event was one that will be long and pleasantly remembered by all who took part.

—Mr. Nelson of Hoosac Tunnel, father of the young woman who recently shot herself in the side, as related in these columns at the time, was in town Saturday. He says his daughter is rapidly recovering from the effects of the injury, which was very light, considering the possibilities. Mr. Nelson says the shooting was accidental and occurred while his daughter was examining a rusty revolver which she found in the house and which she did not suppose to be loaded.

—Those who heard band music floating softly through the valley yesterday gave at a loss to know where it came from. Last spring an Italian bought the Tinney place on the high hill south-west of the town, and yesterday there was quite a gathering of his countrymen there, including the Italian band, recently mentioned in these columns as making excellent progress in the study of music. The music sounded very sweet as it floated from the hill on the skirts of the Sabbath and was heard far away, though it was so softened by distance as to disturb no one.

—Dr. Wallace E. Brown has a handsome and stylish team of bay coach horses which he purchased of Miss Wallace of Hoosick Falls, N. Y., daughter of Mr. Wallace, a member of the bankrupt mercantile firm of Wallace, Jones & Ely of that town. The horses are just such a pair as the doctor needs—large, active, good steppers and perfectly kind and safe. They are attracting considerable attention on the streets and Dr. Brown is well pleased with his purchase. The doctor and his old gray horse and pony shot Saturday. They were no longer suited to his needs and he was too merciful to allow them to go into the hands of strangers by whom they might possibly have been misused.

—A team belonging to Mr. Cook of Stamford, Vt., took a very lively run down Main street just before 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The horses were hitched to a heavy wagon in which there was some lumber which had slid forward so as to hit the horses. The driver hung on and tried desperately to stop the team, but was unable to do so till he reached Marshall street, when he turned the horses suddenly into that street and one was thrown, which brought the team to a speedy stop. There were many teams on the street at the time, but no collisions occurred. There was lively excitement for a few minutes, but the damage was light.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

James Dailey of Fitchburg, who will operate the steam roller on the state road, arrived in town Saturday. He was a comrade of F. N. Ray in the army, both having served in Co. A, fifty-third Massachusetts volunteers. They had not met before for twenty-eight years.

Mrs. E. T. Shutter and daughter of Hartford, Conn., are visiting relatives in town.

Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Davenport are spending a week at Ilion, N. Y.

Mrs. Charles Brainard and daughter of Methuen, N. Y., arrived in town Saturday and will spend the summer here.

Mrs. A. A. Hughes and son went to Adams, N. Y., today to spend a few weeks with friends.

Rev. W. H. Butrick, of Albany, preached two able sermons at the Baptist church yesterday and was heard with interest by large congregations.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

A Fall from a Piazza Results in Two Broken Wrists.

Mrs. R. G. Walden met with an exceedingly painful accident yesterday afternoon. She called at the house of Charles Warner on Meadow street and while sitting in a rocking chair on the piazza rocked a little too close to the edge of the piazza floor and fell off. The distance to the ground was not over two or three feet, but Mrs. Walden was rendered helpless and Mrs. O. J. Brown and A. Mignault were called. They found that both wrists of the unfortunate woman had been broken. Mrs. Walden was cared for and removed to her home on Cherry street, where she is under the care of Dr. Brown and a trained nurse. It is a serious misfortune and brings to Mrs. Walden the sympathy of a large number of friends.

Comic Opera.

The summer opera season at the Columbia, under local management, was closed Saturday evening by the sixth presentation of Mascot. Notwithstanding the fact that it was the sixth time played "Mascot" proved as pleasing as ever. Fred Marsden is at his best in this opera, his powerful, melodious baritone voice being used to good effect. His duets with Miss Pierce were especially pleasing. His conception of the role of Pippo is good and all that could be asked for.

"Erminie" or "The Two Thieves," will be produced Tuesday and Wednesday for the benefit of the company, and should prove a drawing card, as it will eclipse anything yet presented, without a doubt. The company will produce the same opera tonight at Williamstown.

Barn Burned.
About 11.15 o'clock Saturday night, an alarm of fire was rung in from box 142 on Commercial street near the L. L. Brown paper company's upper mill. The Alerts promptly responded to the call and found the fire to be in an old barn in Plunkett's grove, off Harmony street. The fire had gained considerable headway and was burning like tinder. Only one stream could be put on it and no possible efforts could save it being burned to the ground. There was nothing of value in the building, and the loss is small. It is supposed the fire was started by tramps.
An Elaborate Celebration.
The feast of the Corpus Christi was observed in a befitting manner yesterday by Rev. Fr. Moran and his congregation. The grounds about Fr. Moran's residence were nicely arranged, three altars being stationed, respectively, in front of the house, and on the east and west sides. The two choirs met at the church, together with the boys and girls of the Sunday school, and marched to the scene of the ceremony.
At 6 o'clock the service began with adoration of the host at the altar on the east side. They then marched to the other side. The march was as follows: Two choirs, Sunday school boys, Sunday school girls, altar boys, Rev. Fr. Moran under a magnificent canopy, carrying the Blessed Sacrament, attended by Fr. O'Callaghan and Coyne, and members of congregation. James Reidy, Frank A. Malley, John Kelley and Patrick Moriarty bore the canopy. After the service at the second side altar, the procession continued to the central one, where benediction was given. Then followed a sermon by Rev. Fr. O'Callaghan. The sermon was very fine and was listened to with attention by the immense gathering.
The feast has never been observed here before in such a manner and was very successful.

The number of bicycle riders in town from adjoining towns was very notable Sunday. It is becoming a very popular style of traveling.

WILLIAMSTOWN.

A Williams Year.

The prophecy that this was to be a Williams year has been fulfilled in a broad sense of the word. It was very fitting that the day which marked the defeat of Yale should also mark the winning of the championship. And so it was amid the loudest cheering when the news of Dartmouth's victory over Amherst was received here. The very fact that things have turned out as they have is but another testimony of the work which Capt. Draper and his men have been doing for the past two or three months. No celebration has yet been held but will be this week. Nevertheless the boys show in other ways their deep gratitude to their team.

The mission which has been going on at St. Patrick's church for the past week closed last night, although services were held last evening. Every service was so well attended that it was necessary to fill the aisles with chairs. Many people have been brought back into the church and it is hoped that it will be the source of great good, not only for those who attended but also for others. Too much praise cannot be given the mission fathers for the way in which they worked.

It is for sale by Bates, '95.

Jerry Allen, '95, who has been confined to his room for some time, is out on crutches.

The Yale team did not leave town Saturday night but instead they were driven to Pittsfield Sunday by Thomas McMahon. From Pittsfield they took the train for New Haven. The team takes this trip every season but generally under different circumstances.

The hopes of the high school were not up very high in regards to the athletics, and so did not have far to fall. But the boys are still rejoicing over their victory in base ball.

Rev. Theodore Sedgwick preached to the class of '95 in the Congregational church last evening from the text, "Jesus increased in wisdom."

QUESADA INTERVIEWED

Independence the Only Solution of the Cuban Problem.

De Campos' Policy Subject to Condemnation.

Spanish Soldiers Demoralized and Discouraged Through Hardships.

NEW ORLEANS, June 17.—General Rafael Quesada, one of the Cubans' most distinguished leaders, and a very influential man in Venezuela, is at the Pickwick hotel, after an extended visit to friends at various Gulf ports. In an interview, the gentleman was asked: "How are the Cuban people, as a country, inclined to the present war? Is there not some division among them owing to the race question?"

GENERAL QUESADA.

"No, sir; that is an erroneous impression, due in part to the false reports of the Spanish authorities and also to the misunderstanding as to factors at work on the Cuban people. The Cubans are in favor of the revolution, but for a few brave leaders who still cling to the deluded hope that Spain will give them self-government."

"Independence is the only solution to the Cuban problem, and the only aim for which we are striving. There is no such thing as a race question, for the two divisions are clear, and each has its own particular sphere in which they work. There are a few brave negroes among the troops who are fighting as hard and nobly for their independence as the whites."

"As a military officer and as a Cuban, how do you estimate the policy pursued by Marshal Martinez de Campos?"

His Opinion of Campos.
After thinking a minute, General Quesada said: "I would gladly be fair to criticize an officer in command, but I can say that I do not think he is acting wisely in two things, both of which are doing harm to our country more than good. He is ruining the national treasury, and I will prove it to you by figures."

"The revolution started on the 24th of February. The avowed cost per day to Spain of the army is $25,000, a conservative estimate. He has had this expense since Feb. 24, or say 100 days, amounting to $2,500,000, and if the war should continue at this rate, Spain, whose credit is not of the best, may find herself in a bad position."

Besides this, he is killing the army. As soon as he hears of the appearance of the insurgents, he marches regiment after regiment after the Cubans, killing the soldiers with forced marches, subjecting them to the inclemency of the rain and the burning heat of the sun. This demoralizes his soldiers, and from private advice I know that there is a spirit of discontent among the troops which is spreading and which has gained its usual adherents from the soldiers, and of course, are never heard of in print as Spain controls the mails and telegrams. I know Campos, for in the last war we met. He is a good general, or was, but is now what you Americans call a 'luck number.'"

Bunker Hill Celebration.
Boston, June 17.—Bunker Hill day was generally observed throughout the city today, but the grand center of the celebration was at Charlestown, where parades were held morning and afternoon, the former by the civic and social organizations of the district and the latter by the representative lodges of Massachusetts Free Masonry. While the general celebration of the day was in commemoration of the historic battle, the Masonic order observed it as the 100th anniversary of the dedication of Bunker Hill monument with appropriate exercises, at which Governor Greenhouse delivered the oration.

The race is to be the best two in three.

Will Attend.Detailed Program of the Session and List of Prominent Speakers.

Boston, June 17.—The international scope of the Good Templar hosts that will assemble in Boston this month from all parts of the globe will be shown in the busts to be worn by the delegates. With its field the world, the idea put into shape by a bust upon which is portrayed a representation of the globe, with "Our Field" inscribed upon the equator. The order with its thousands of delegates from Africa, Australia, Europe, South and North America, will well claim the privilege of wearing this bust.

Tuesday evening, June 25, the grand lodge of Massachusetts Good Templars will tender a public reception to the supreme lodge in Association hall, this city. Rev.
James Yeames, P. R. W. G. T., will preside, and addresses of welcome will be made by Mayor Curtis in behalf of the city and Willard O. Wythe, G. C. T., in behalf of the Good Templars of the state.

Representatives from India, Africa, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, New Zealand, British Columbia, Scotland, Germany, England, Prince Edward Island, Ireland, etc., will respond. Lodges throughout the state will attend, their members clothed in the insignia of the order. The Women's Christian Temperance union, Massachusetts Total Abstinence society, State Reform club, Temple of Honor, Sons of Temperance, Catholic Total Abstinence society and other temperance organizations of the state will have representatives on the platform. The meeting is open to the public, and an original ode, written by Rev. James Yeames especially for the occasion, will be sung.

Supreme Lodge's Session.

Wednesday, the 28th, the supreme lodge will begin its sessions. Dr. D. H. Mann, R. W. G. T., presiding, and continue eight days, open only to members of the order. In the evening a public event will take place, the graduating exercises in the course of study, preceded by a banquet.
Hon. S. B. Chase, chancellor of the course, Hastings, Pa., will preside.

The choice of the location of the next grand lodge perhaps will be the most sought after part of the session, and of course the strength of the order in various countries seeking the honor will have much to do with the decision. England has about 35-400 members, entitling it to 12 representatives. Sweden has 45,000 members and 11 delegates and Scotland 40,000 and nine representatives. New York is the strongest of the United States in Good Templars, its membership being about 10,000.

Thursday at 6 o'clock, Governor Green-halge will tender the supreme lodge a reception in Copley hall, and at 6:30 o'clock a banquet will take place in Copley hall.
One thousand plates will be laid, and William Leonard of Salem, E. G. C. T., of Massachusetts will be toastmaster. The invited guests will be Governor Green-halge, ex-Governor John B. Smith of New Hampshire, Hon. Nelson Dingley of Maine, Hon. Joshua Nye, Mayors Curtis of Boston, Davenport of Marlboro and Baker of Beverly, the supreme lodges, the past presiding officers, representatives of state temperance organizations and temperance mayors of Massachusetts cities.
The banquet will be public.

Foreign Delegates to Be Dined.

On Saturday the Scandinavian Good Templars of Massachusetts will tender a banquet in Commercial hall to the Scandianavian delegates from Sweden, Norway, Schleswig-Holstein, Minnesota, Illinois and New York. Sunday afternoon a public meeting will be held in Berkeley Temple, where the Scandinavian delegates and other representatives will speak.

The committee on church supply will supply many pulpits on June 19 with representatives to the supreme lodge.
In addition to the social pleasures outlined, a harbor excursion will be taken by cruisery of the city of Boston on the steamer J. Putnam Bradley, when the fore and other points of interest in the harbor will be visited. Suburban trips are being planned to Cambridge, Charlestown, Salem, Concord and Plymouth.

The various sub-committees are busy, and have all the work of entertaining the supreme lodge well in hand. All delegates will be met at the depot, escorted to their lodgings and provided with a badge and a guide to the city. The United States hotel will be the headquarters of the executive.

The official badge to be presented to and worn by all the delegates and representatives to the supreme lodge is from a design given up by Willard C. Wythe, the grand chief templar of this state, and chairman of the reception committee, and is a very handsome affair. It is made of satin grosgrain ribbon, appropriately inscribed in blue letters, and a miniature red bouquet attached to the bottom, with the word "Bene" across the face, emblematic of Boston's popular diet, the entry combination of red, white and blue, representing the colors of the order, the white and blue representing the subordinate lodge, the red that of the grand lodge.

parts of the land, and will be attended by the delegates stopping in the neighborhood of each church. These services will be held at 6:30 o'clock every morning during the convention.

Commission in regard to Opium.

tion by the British government of the garded as the most important and valuable contribution to the history and literature of the opium trade. The commission was constituted in 1893, and its work has been made. It is the outcome of an agitation roused by English philanthropists on account of the alleged demoralization caused by the use of opium in India and China.

This agitation has been kept up for more than 20 years by the Anti-Opium league, which was organized by Lord Shaftesbury in 1873. The original object of this society was the limitation of the growth and manufacture of opium in British India, and especially the suppression of the trade in opium on the ground that it was a great source of demoralization.

So far as the charges by the Anti-Opium league against the British government for creating the demand for opium in China are concerned, it is proved by abundant evidence that the people of China had used opium for centuries before England had secured a foothold in India. From the evidence before them, the commission declined to recommend any action tending to the destruction of the trade.

The commission thinks that India could not withstand the loss of revenue which would result from stoppage of the industry.

In reply to the question, "Whether the growth of the poppy and the manufacture and sale of opium in British India should be prohibited, except for medical purposes, and whether this prohibition could be extended to the native states," the commission states that it has not been shown by the evidence to be demanded by the people to be necessary that prohibition should be enforced, except for medical purposes.
The number who desire prohibition at the risk of its financial and political results is small.

A Kentucky Tragedy.

MOCK STERLING, Ky., June 17.—Saturday, five weeks ago, John Johnson, colored, was released from the Frankfort penitentiary for shooting a negro woman, Horry Watson, a concubine, a shot and killed Johnson's father. He was then a deputy policeman. Friday night as Watson went home some one fired two shots at him without effect. It is now believed that Johnson was the shooter. Last night Johnson opened fire on Policemen Evans and Lane. Evans was shot through the bowels and will die. Lane was shot, but was saved by his police badge. Evans fired two shots, both taking effect on the negro. Physicians say Johnson will die.

A SIGNIFICANT LETTER

Warner Miller's Appeal to Republicans For Party Loyalty.Seathing Rebuke to Lukewarm Legislators.Party Now Responsible For the Acts of the Present Legislature.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The following letter in regard to the re-nomination of Republican state senators who failed to support the party program at the last session of the legislature was addressed to Samuel B. Campbell, New York Mills, Oneida county, N. Y.:

MY DEAR SIR:—Knowing your interest and all of the Republicans in Oneida county, in the election of the Republican party, I like the liberty of addressing you on a matter of the highest importance to your party, not only in your county but in the state at large.

Two years ago, the people of the state, aroused by the criminal acts of a few men who succeeded in stealing a majority of the state senate, elected a Republican senate and elected a Republican governor. Last year the revelations of the frauds and corruption practices of Tammany resulted in electing a Republican in governor and assembly by an overwhelming majority, thus giving the state government into the hands of the hands of our party. This brought with it the responsibility of government, and we are justly held responsible for the acts of the present legislature.

What is the result? A careful scrutiny of the work of the legislature shows that a large number of laws were passed which are of great importance to the state and that nearly all the Republican members of the legislature are to be commended for their honest and honorable record. A few men betrayed the trust reposed in them, bringing overwhelming disgrace upon themselves and humiliating and shame to their party associates.

The party cannot be held responsible for the acts of those men unless it should endorse their acts by re-nominating them for office. I understand that the senate from your county is noting a re-nomination of the hands of the Republican party on a wide ground. It has been repeatedly honored by the Republicans of Oneida county with high office, he should have given his unequalled support to every measure which had for its object the reform of the government and the correction of the abuses and the punishment of the crimes which the able revelations of the new commission showed existed. What did he do?
The record is too humiliating for us to repeat in detail.

A Bitter Rebuke.

His absence from the senate on important occasions was without excuse or apology—the true reason cannot be given. His defeat of a measure which was absolutely necessary for the purification of the police of New York city and the removal of corrupt and dishonest men from office, rendered it impossible that the Republicans of Oneida county should re-nominate or return him to the senate.
Political expediency to be urged in his behalf? I want to say that it is a disgraceful thing for a man who has been repeatedly honored by the Republicans of Oneida county with high office, he should
The record is too humiliating for us to repeat
in detail.

Further Tales of Cruelty.

SOFTA, June 17.—Advices received here from Kroussova, Macedonia, tell of the stunning occurrences, which may be followed by much more serious trouble in that district. The first disturbance was caused by a Turkish policeman, who killed a young woman on the eve of her marriage to a young Roumanian. The girl's two brothers swore vengeance, and the Turkish policeman and one of his infamous were killed by them shortly after the death of the girl. This caused great excitement in the neighborhood, and attempts were made to capture the brothers, who sought refuge in a house, which they prepared to defend to the utmost.

mitting to the redacting a preliminary law which provides that until July 1, 1895, the rate of export bounty now in force shall continue.

Incident For Japan.

LONDON, June 17.—The Standard in its abandoning her claims to the Liao-Tung peninsula, and therefore China must still raise £20,000,000 for the general indemnity, which will pledge over two-thirds of her entire customs revenue.

To Save Dale's Neck.

BALTIMORE, June 17.—Richard C. Dale, ing that there was no written agreement in existence.

Odessa says that the Russian cereal crop this year will almost equal in abundance the splendid crop of 1894. The condition of the rye crop is especially good.

Robbed and Murdered.

RALEIGH, June 17.—Mrs. E. S. Poolard, wife of a farmer living near Oxford, was found murdered in her home. The house had been robbed of $500 in gold. A negro who had been left with Mrs. Poolard was arrested and the evidence against her is very strong.

Killed Lover of His Wife.

LOUISVILLE, June 17.—Arthur Gourdin, a shoemaker, living at Rowllinton, 15 miles from this city, shot and probably fatally wounded Thomas Murphy and then stabbed his wife to death. Gourdin suspected Murphy of being intimate with his wife.
